

For them

Life can seem like it's just happening to you, like you're being dragged along for the ride.

But life is a series of choices.
So try and make good ones.
Take a moment to choose what's right for you and for others.

In small ways, start creating your best life.